Angel of the Lord 2
Anděl Páně 2

The angel Petronel is still working at the Heavenly Gates but is convinced he deserves a better post. The devil Uriáš, who is forever trying to tempt him, begins to ensnare him. All he has to do is to pluck an apple from the Tree of Knowledge and he'll know all that God knows! However, in a scuffle between Petronel and Uriáš the Apple of Knowledge falls to Earth. God sends them down to find and bring it back. On Earth they experience a great adventure, passing through a number of dangerous situations. Following a series of human and "divine" tests, our heroes finally discover that the path to knowledge leads through oneself, through the discovery of the power of friendship, love and the ability to forgive.

The Good Plumber
Instalatér z Tuchlovic

Lubos is a plumber by trade, a very good plumber – though most people see him as a simpleton. He lives with his mother, keeps to a few childhood friends whose views confuse him more and more, loves his local sports teams and retains a boyish standoffishnes when it comes to his interactions with women, something that frustrates his mother to no end. Many take one look at him and call him hopeless, a failure. For those who take a second look, though, they find that Lubos is a giver, a sharer, and more times than not he gives you what you need. Unaware – or uncaring – of others' opinions, Lubos lives his life leisurely, with a blithe certainty that he has all he needs – until he meets the wife of a new referral. After that, very little in Lubos's life remains certain or simple.

The Third Wish
Přání k mání

A family film that tells the story of several forms of love today in a poetic, playful and humorous manner. It explores the sufferings of teenager Albert who is head over heels in – most pertinently unrequited – love with his best friend's sister; the love between Albert's parents, who perform magic shows and are going through a crisis of middle age; and parental love, when the slick charmer Bosák Jr. attempts to win the attention and affection of his father, a powerful hotelier. Albert and the others ultimately realise that one doesn't need magic and spells to be happy but above all the courage to change things around oneself for the better. Naturally, however, that doesn't mean that magic and sorcery don't exist.

A comedy about a Greek migrant who came to Czechoslovakia in the late 1940s to flee his country's civil war and found a new home here. The story is told through the eyes of the now adult Aris, Archimedes' nephew, who recalls how the escape from Greece changed his uncle's life. Soon after his arrival Archimedes find great support in his neighbour Novák, whose bitter attitude to the Communist regime Archimedes at first fails to comprehend, though he likes him very much. Ultimately, however, he is the only one who understands him. Their joint efforts to help Archimedes settle in Czechoslovakia, and subsequent efforts to help him return to Greece, lead to charming, moving and comic situations.

The family includes two children: Johanna, 16, who doesn't welcome her parents' decision to relocate to the country, and Marek, 8, who settles into the new environment quite quickly. Autumn spring
Babí léto

A tragicomic story of a youthful seventy-five-year-old man, an eternal dreamer and joker who behaves very differently from his beloved yet worrying wife: he refuses to reconcile himself to living as an old man resignedly preparing himself for death. His faithful friend from the operetta helps him inject a bit of theater into his world and in this way to fulfill his longtime dreams. Just as convincingly our hero manages to enact various roles: as a ticket inspector, a mountain climber, a philanthropist, and as an emeritus member of the Metropolitan Opera who decides to buy a palace.

Monstrum

The story of sculptor Otakar Švec, who, as chance would have it, was awarded the commission for designing the giant Stalin's monument on the Letná plain overlooking the centre of Prague, takes place on the background of a turbulent time. Paradoxically all he wished for was to keep the love of his beautiful wife Vlasta, the respect of his colleagues, and last but not least, to live in a dignified way. Apart from the Švec couple, it is also the story of Pavel, young student of sculpting, who – by the respect for his teacher and at the same time because of his irresistible attraction by Vlasta, creates a complicated relational triangle. In contrast with the huge mass of the granite monument, the fate of the humans is heading for a tragic end.

Murder in Polná 1-2
Zločin v Polné

The film describes the events which triggered off the largest wave of anti-Semitism ever recorded in the Czech Lands. It rose in 1899, following the brutal murder of a young girl. To the local doctors it seemed that there's not enough coagulated blood on the scene of the crime, and the answer to the question where the "missing" blood had gone suggested itself: it was Easter, the Jewish Passover time, and the Jews had used it in matzos. Unjustly convicted for the murder thus was a young Jew Leopold Hilsner. And it was the future first President of Czechoslovakia professor T.G. Masaryk and a young lawyer Zdeno Auředníček who never stopped striving for Hilsner's rehabilitation.

Bohemia
Bohéma

Series of six parts, inspired by the lives of Czech actors, actresses and film makers during the 2nd World War and in the post-war period. Associated with the most-demanded film studios of the time – Prague's Barrandov – were such names as Oldřich Nový, Vlasta Burian, Jaroslav Marvan, Zdeněk Štěpánek and others. But what was the price for keeping a role, and how the actors once applauded by the crowds had to pay for it after the war, when they were accused of collaboration with the Nazis and brought before the "people's court of law"? Bohemia is about the envy, desire to feature on the theatre stage and in the film studio at any cost, and turbulent political changes reflected in the life stories of the crème de la crème of Czech film.

Cirkus Bukowsky

The central character of the plot is psychologist and pedagogue Nestor Bukowsky. After losing his job and the roof over his head, he leaves Prague and sets out on a path toward a new life – in a caravan which (what a coincidence) he has just inherited and among circus artistes – all the time dodging the stubborn detective Kuneš who is after him. And how did it all start? With the seeming suicide of his student and mistress rolled into one. Nestor becomes suspect number one, and decides to search for the real culprit "off his own bat". The original, suspenseful plot with a markedly noirish tinge is full of twists and surprises.

Gendarmes from Luhačovice
Četníci z Luhačovic

A series of historical crime stories from the beginnings of the so-called First (independent Czechoslovak) Republic, almost a century ago. The war was still going on for a couple of months, influencing the situation. The series describes it as we perhaps do not know it. As regards the public police – they had quickly to get rid of their bad reputation as "Austria's henchmen", and so the main qualification of the commander assuming his duties in the spa town of Luhačovice is the fact that he speaks Czech. All the two newcomers joining his team in the chaos know about police work is what they have learned in a preparatory course and what's written in textbooks. And before they can unpack, there's the first case they will have to deal with.

Little Garden under the Stars
Zahrádka pod hvězdami

An animated series in the tradition of classic Czech puppet films about a young Jesus and his family. The stories are not taken from the Bible, but are inspired by it and emphasise compassion, helping others, love and understanding, which are values that are valid regardless of one's faith or religion. Jesus appears as an ordinary child, but in fact possess the miraculous ability to find a remedy for any kind of suffering. We would be able to do the same if we viewed the world with our hearts rather than our heads.

Little Man
Malý Pán

A classical puppet film, with the story set in a real forest environment, presented in a manner encouraging children's imagination. Little Man lives happily in his small world, and as long as he has enough noodles, there's nothing he scrambles for. But he dreams, and as we know, dreams may cause problems: they don't let people (small and big alike) in peace. When the Little Man wakes up, to his surprise he finds that there's something missing in his life. So he leaves his cosy home (however reluctantly), and sets out on a journey which, he hopes, will help him get to the root of the problem. Who knows what's awaiting him at its end?

Stories about Mum and Dad
Povídání o mamince a tatínkovi

Puppet stories narrated by not-yet-born Tonda from his Mum's tummy. We learn how his Mum Lucie, who's a painter, and Dad Josef, a joiner, met and fell in love with each other, and in the end got married. Adventures full of imagination and original humour are contributed also by Tonda's grandparents. Granny Coco is Madame Chanel in her heart, while the other Granny plays the violin and modestly calls herself Paganini. And of course there are Grandpas Lojza – the confectioner and pastry cook, and Antonín – the joiner, of whom the house is still full although he's not alive any more. Sometimes we also meet the animals living in the nearby wood. In short – this family is great fun!

Crown Prince
Korunní princ

Prince Charles refuses to accept the fact that it's his elder brother John who, by law and tradition, is the successor to the throne. He steals a magic potion, kept in the Forbidden Chamber, which causes that Prince John, whom he makes drink it, loses memory and disappears in the Spellbound Forest from which there's no return. It seems that nothing stands in Charles's way to the throne any longer, but, as often happens, things take a different turn. Though the witty and thrilling tale rests on a solid classical basis, its conception is totally modern, full of twists and gentle humour.

The Third Wish

new

A family film that tells the story of several forms of love today in a poetic, playful and humorous manner. It explores the sufferings of teenager Albert who is head over heels in – most pertinently unrequited – love with his best friend's sister; the love between Albert's parents, who perform magic shows and are going through a crisis of middle age; and parental love, when the slick charmer Bosák Jr. attempts to win the attention and affection of his father, a powerful hotelier. Albert and the others ultimately realise that one doesn't need magic and spells to be happy but above all the courage to change things around oneself for the better. Naturally, however, that doesn't mean that magic and sorcery don't exist.

Barenboim: Smetana – Má vlast

A documentary film about the famous conductor, great world figure and his production of the symphonic cycle Má Vlast (My Homeland) by Czech composer Bedřich Smetana. The film is centred on footage from rehearsals of the Vienna Philharmonic. We follow the process of the new production of this world-renowned work. We focus almost exclusively on the conductor, on his face, in which we see strength that transmits his vision of the music to the orchestra. The concentrated emotion is recast into tones before our eyes. This process of creation will run through the entire film from beginning to end.

The brothers Bubeníček, ranking among the most prominent dancers of the world ballet scene, celebrated their 40th birth anniversary in 2014. On this occasion they both announced the end of their career. The documentary about their life and work shows the last performance of each of them. Jiří parts with the ensemble of the Dresden Semper Opera, and Otto says goodbye to the world-famous Opera in Hamburg. But their "jubilee" of course doesn't mean a total stop of their top-rate interpretation activity, but a gradual passing into a new and just as interesting creative period. My Efforts to Make a Masterpiece

Můj pokus o mistrovský opus

In these two six-part documentary series devoted to classical music the viewers can observe top-ranking performers in the process of studying the scores of particular compositions – and enriching the musical material by the added value of their talent and ambition. The series demonstrates that standing behind even a virtuoso performance is an artist "made of flesh and bone". Each of the parts offers interesting and so far unknown data about the composers and the musicians, as well as totally new information from the world of classical music.

A world in which an ever higher number of children spend their free time in a virtual world instead of on a real playground... This documentary film presents the youngest generation as so-called "digital natives", for whom the world of the Internet is an important part of their everyday life and a natural process of discovery. The personal stories of the three protagonists draw attention to some hazards of the Internet – such as cyber-bullying and cyber-grooming. Testifying to the seriousness of these phenomena is not only the rise in the number of children who turn with the above-mentioned problems to helplines, with some unfortunately becoming victims of suicides caused by cyberbullying...

Les Ballets Bubeníček
– Orpheus
Les Ballets Bubeníček – Orfeus

This stage play is freely inspired by the myth of Orpheus. Jiří and Otto Bubeníček deal with the descent into the underworld as a descent into the depths of one's self. The Orfeus project formally goes beyond the boundaries of dance, physical movement, words and music. German dancer Anna Herrmann, popular Slovak actor Csongor Kassai and two musicians – Czech cellist Terezie Kovalová and French violinist Annabelle Dugast – appear alongside Jiří and Otto Bubeníček. The Bubeníček brothers gave this amazing performance at the New Stage of the National Theatre in Prague at the official opening of the 53rd Annual 2016 Golden Prague (Zlatá Praha) International Dance Festival.

Romeo and Juliet
Romeo a Julie

The Romeo and Juliet ballet by Sergei Prokofiev is one of the most important works of its genre. The production of this world-famous material is the work of Petr Zuska, the head of ballet of the National Theatre in Prague. The reason for the eternal discord between the Montagues and Capulets is not closely defined in the original Shakespearean tragedy. As part of the production, Petr Zuska allows this basic aspect to be interpreted as the eternal conflict of the masculine and feminine principle – two polarities mutually oscillating at the edge of attraction and inevitable antagonism.

Solo for the Two of Us

Petra Zuska's dance theatre piece Solo for the Two of Us comprises several levels at once, particularly the relationship between a man and a woman, between a person and the demon hiding inside of them, between the individual and the society of which they are a part, and between us and nature. And last but not least, it is a solo for Jaromír Nohavica and Beata Bocek, whose music was Petr Zuska's inspiration this time round.

Leoš Janáček:

Leoš Janáček: Z mrtvého domu

Recording of the opera performance in the National Theatre of Prague. The novel of F. M. Dostoyevsky (also published under the titles Notes or Memoirs from the Dead House), in which he described his personal experiences as the tsar's political prisoner, inspired Leoš Janáček so strongly that he based on it his last opera. The story is situated in a tsarist prison, and the content is a narration of the individual prisoners' life stories. In Janáček's musical rendering, the memories of the suffering and misery which had been the prime origin of the committed crimes are full of love of life, compassion with human pain and thirst for freedom. The Golden Eels
Zlatí úhoři

The Golden Eels film directed by Karel Kachyňa, inspired by Ota Pavel's short stories, no doubt belongs to the best television dramas ever produced. The lyrical story, situated in the charming nature of the Berounka river valley in Central Bohemia, blends with contemplations on the substance of ordinary human happiness and man's harmonious relation to nature. But at the same time, it is a reminiscence of the cruelty and oppression inflicted on both people and the landscape by the ravaging years of war and German occupation.

The cult television series sought to record the decisive moments in the development of the Prague Rescue Service between 1956 and 1975, and provide testimony about the exacting work of its employees. Despite the far-from-perfect technological equipment, and sometimes even against the will of the patient, it is evident that the doctors, paramedics and other staff always fought for human lives. In the follow-up of the first legendary series, we will see the original protagonists, now "somewhat" older and more experienced, as well as completely new ones. This next series is characterized by many action scenes, showing the present-day the doctors and rescuers working at full stretch.

Mr. Mayer enters fairy-tale land with the aid of a magic bell, and simultaneously fairy-tale beings enter the realm of people. The main motif is the love that develops between Peter, Mayer's son, and fairy-tale Princess Arabela. But Rumburak, of course, wants the Princess and the royal throne for himself. This is a story full of humor and excitement enhanced by the magic brought into the human world and the bad habits people transfer to the land of fairy-tales.

The novel played an immensely important role in anti-fascist resistance, as the writer saw beyond the horizon of the time of war and Nazi occupation, to the future without fascists, racial theories and one nation holding others in contempt. Prague Underworld
Panoptikum Města pražského

Loose continuation of the legendary series The Sinful People of Prague. At the turn of the 1920s and 1930s, police inspectors Bouše and Brůžek, led by their new superior, police counsel Korejs and assisted by experienced retired detective Mrázek and eager trainee solicitor Souček, deal with crime cases typical of that time of economic crisis and social tension. The authors of the episodes tell the stories of sinful as well as sinless citizens of Prague with a touch of humour and kindness. They take us to an environment which we'd hardly find in present-day Prague, and let us get a taste of situations which can never happen again.

The Train of Childhood and Hope
Vlak dětství a naděje

Why do people like returning to their childhood in their memories? Most probably because seen through children's eyes, the world is better and merrier than as adults perceive it. Close before the outburst of World War II, little Vera, accompanied by her widowed father and stepmother, boards a train which is never to return to the North Moravian village from which it departs. The inventiveness and indomitable optimism of her near and dear ones see her through the hard war time.

A cartoon series starring two rabbits who live in a magician's hat. Bob and Bobby are two fun little characters who think up something new to do every day. Bob and Bobby also tell kids to never cheat, be lazy or start fights – and also that it's wise to eat plenty of carrots.
