BOŽENA (BOŽENA)

A story of female strength and male magnanimity.

A conflict between married life and personal ambition in a four-part miniseries about the most famous female Czech writer. A story of the clash between two strong personalities that never learned to live together. They entered into matrimony with different ideas. Young Božena, unbound by the morals and conventions of the time and yearning for emancipation, believes that marriage will bring equality and freedom. Josef, a brave, decisive and confident man, is prepared to play the role of leader, protector and breadwinner. Those are the rules of the time as well as of the period marriage law. This is also the basic conflict. Božena was to become the mere wife of Josef Němec. The irony of fate is that it was him that became the husband and collaborator of Božena Němcová.
