Wings of Christmas (Křídla vánoc)

We all carry certain dreams and secret wishes inside us. We know about some; some of them we'd like to suppress and some we allow to ourselves to be said out loud or even lived out. Heroes of our story will get a chance to wish something and their lives will aim in the directions they have determined. A chain of "accidents" will grant them what they'd wished and they get their chance to live it up. In our lives we are responsible not only for everything we do but also for what we say, what we think and what we are yearning for. Our mind's eye can never beat the imagination of the universe when the facts begin to fit together.

The greater part of our film takes place in a shopping mall during Christmas time. Stories of four friends who work there will intermingle. Action lasts only a few days but it would change their lives and their angle of view at it. Everything coheres with everything here. What we perceive as an accident has actually a strictly determinate role.
